—F. I. Buckingham, an old student at the N. I. N. S., accompanied by his father, came out from Chicago last evening and will visit in this city for a few days.

—Gedney's skating park in Dement town was in excellent condition last night. Instead of flooding, they have taken to spraying it nights. A large company of ladies and gentlemen enjoyed much sport last evening gliding over the surface of the ice, which was hard and clear as glass.

—The item in THE TELEGRAPH last evening in regard to certain parties leaving the city to furnish music at Mendota, was erroneous so far as linking the name of Wm. Sherwood with the others is concerned. He has no acquaintance with the other parties named and did not leave the city yesterday.

—There is a good track on the ice, all the way around the island above the dam, and there is a movement on foot to utilize it tomorrow. All horsemen, liverymen, and persons owning good rigs are invited to meet on the ice tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock for an enjoyable time. The ice is eighteen inches thick and would sustain a loaded train.

—Here is a farmer's way to get rid of rats. He says he has tried it when they were bad and got rid of them all: Take one one-half pint of sifted meal and put into it a thimbleful of calomel, such as is used in families. Mix well and place in small tins or shallow pans in or near the place where the rats infest; all to be used dry, and in a short time rats will be very scarce on the premises.

—In the discussion of a pension bill in favor of Gen. McClernand the other day to which opposition was offered, as usual, by southern Democrats, Mr. Springer took occasion to remind his colleagues that there were only thirteen Democrats elected to the next Congress from the whole north, and said that if their course was persisted in none would be returned to the succeeding one.

—Christ Weil, who lives just east of this city, on the Franklin Grove road, is suffering at his home with eczema. The young man has been suffering from this dread disease for nine years, but has been able to go about his duties until about four months ago, when he was compelled to take to his bed. He has been advised by physicians in this city that his only hope of life is a course of treatment at the Hot Springs, but his means will not allow this unless outside help is given him. He is a sober, industrious man and is deserving of any assistance that may be given him.

—Dixon Camp No. 56, Modern Woodmen of America, held a banquet and dance last evening at Rosbrook's hall, at which the neighbors with their families and friends, to the number of about three hundred, assembled, and the evening was very pleasantly spent. The arranged literary programme was interfered with by the illness of a number of those who were to have taken part, which was quite a disappointment to many; nevertheless the evening was one of real enjoyment. Prof. Smith's full orchestra furnished excellent music for the terpsichorean part of the entertainment and the refreshments were all that could be desired. Those who did not dance entered into the general spirit of enjoyment in their own way, and taken all together it was a most pleasant gatherfng.

—Young Mrs. Winthrop was greeted with a good sized audience last night, composed mostly af our society people. The play was magnificently staged and presented by one of the finest companies that ever visited our city. It is a pity our citizens do not encourage Manager Truman's efforts to prosent plays of the finer class, by filling the house. Most of the attractions this season have come directly from Chicago, and were known to be first-class, yet the attendance was quite small. On Saturduay evening, January 26, the celebrated racing drama "The Derby Winner," will be presented with twenty-two people and seven racing horses. The stage is to be enlarged and a fine program given. With this company is Arthur Dunn, the celebrated comedian, who has for years been associated with the Chicago opera house spectacular productions, he having filled Eddie Foy's place in the play of Ala Baba last summer.

—A letter from Litchfield, Nebraska, appears in the Ogle County Reporter, written by L. E. Saddler, who is a nephew of W. H. Saddler, living two miles east of Dixon on the Franklin Grove road. The writer says that in his section the farmers have had two successive crop failures, and not much prospect for '95—no seed to plant and nothing to feed to their stock or themselves. The donations received up to the time of writing had not half supplied the deficiency. Men, women and children all needed clothing and footwear. Two persons in his neighborhood had already starved to death. "Last year our land did not return the seed. I sowed seventy-seven acres of wheat, fifteen acres of oats, eight acres of rye and planted sixty-five acres of corn, and I did not get a grain, so all I have left are a few starving head of cattle (which I cannot sell) and my wife and four small children. We can't leave here, for where can we go? All that could get money enough to leave, have gone, but the rest will have to stay. If the people had a few dollars ahead, they could go through, for flour is only $1.50 per 100 pounds, but it might as well be $150.00, so far as our ability to get it is concerned."

I gave it to him next day and a cure was effected. I keep this remedy in the house now and as soon as any of my children show signs of croup I give it to them and that is the last of the croup." No-To-Bac sold and guaranteed by TILLSON & HAYDEN. No cure no pay. Book free. Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

NOW COMES OLNEY.

The Attorney General Has an Arbitration Bill.

SYNOPSIS OF THE PROPOSED LAW.

Comprehensive Definition of the Phrase "Railway Employe"—A Clause That Makes It Compulsory on the Roads—Bill of the Chicago Civic Federation on the Same Subject for Illinois—Debs Refused a Writ of Error at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A labor arbitration plan has been devised by Attorney General Olney and introduced by McGann, of the house committee on labor, intended as a substitute for the one framed by Labor Commissioner Wright. In several points the bill is more far-reaching in its propositions than any that has been brought forward. The terms "railroad" and "employe" are defined in the bill, and the latter includes those working on cars operated by carrier under lease, making the carrier responsible for their acts as though they were employed directly by him. The wages paid to employes, it is stipulated, shall be reasonable and just. In case of wage controversies the chairman of the interstate commerce state commission and the commissioner of labor are to communicate with the parties and endeavor to effect an amicable settlement.

Features of an Arbitration.

If this mediation fails the controversy may be submitted to a board of arbitration of which the chairman of the interstate commerce commission shall be chairman and which shall consist also of one commissioner chosen by the employer and one to represent the workmen in the controversy. Other features are that the parties shall stipulate in writing that pending the arbitration the existing status shall not be changed. That the award shall be final unless set aside for error of law apparent on the record. That the parties shall faithfully execute it and it may be enforced in equity so far as the powers of a court of equity permit. That employes dissatisfied with the award shall not quit work without three months' notice in writing. That the award shall be continued in force for two years and during that period no new arbitration between the same parties on the same subject shall be had.

Time for Exceptions—Penalties Provided.

The award is to be filed with the United States circuit court clerk in the local district and thirty days are allowed to file exceptions, in which case the award goes into effect ten days after the exceptions are decided. Where no exceptions are taken the award goes into effect at the end of thirty days. During that time it would be unlawful for organizations or employes to order, aid or abet a strike or boycott or to leave their employment without giving thirty days' notice in writing; nor can they be discharged without thirty days' notice except for causes mentioned. Violations of this provision are made a misdemeanor, punishable by $1,000 fine or one year's imprisonment. Membership in incorporated labor organizations, it is provided, shall be terminated by indulgence in lawlessness, violence, destruction of property, intimidation or threats by members during strikes, but they are not to be held individually liable for debts of the organization.

Roads in the Hands of Receivers.

The employes of roads managed by received appointed by the federal courts shall have the right to be heard through the officers of their organizations or their representatives in the federal courts on questions affecting the terms of their employment. Employers who make it a condition of employment that men shall not be members of any labor organization, or discharge or threaten to discharge men for such membership, or discriminate against them because of it, or enter into contracts compelling the men to contribute to any fund for charitable, social or beneficial objects, or after discharging men conspire to prevent them from obtaining employment, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of from $100 to $1,000.

Where the Compulsion Comes In.

If disputes threatening to injuriously affect the interests of the people of any section are not submitted to arbitration the attorney general, the bill provides, shall be authorized to apply to the district court for receivers for the railroad to take possession of the property and run it in the interest of the public, and may make the employers and employes and any persons or organizations aiding or abetting them parties to the suit.

PLAN FOR A STATE BOARD.

Arbitration Scheme of the Chicago Civic Federation.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Jan. 18.—The most important measure dealing with controversies between labor and capital ever presented to the Illinois legislature is the bill introduced in the house by Representative Bryan, of Du Page county. The bill is fathered by the Chicago Civic Federation and was drafted by Professor E. W. Bemis. The bill provides for three commissioners, each of a different political party, as a state labor commission, at a salary of $5,000 and expenses per year each, to serve two years. One member of the board must be an employer of labor, another a representative of a labor organization, while the third is to be chosen by the other two.

Upon the application of an employer or a majority of his employes—the grievance to be stated in the application with a promise from both parties that work shall be continued until a decision is rendered—the board shall visit the scene of the controversy, provided said controversy does not involve questions which may be the subject of a suit at law or bill in equity, and make careful inquiry into the cause of the trouble; hear all persons interested therein who may come before them, advise the respective parties what, if anything, ought to be done or submitted to by either or both to adjust said dispute, and make a written decision thereof. This decision shall at once be made public, be recorded upon proper books of record, and a short statement published in an annual report provided for, and a copy filed with the clerk of the city or town where the controversy occurs.

The services of the board are limited to cases where the employes of an individual, partnership or corporation number twenty-five persons or more in the same general line of business. The decision must be rendered within three weeks of the date of application to bind the parties to the provision that work shall go on pending that decision. The board and the parties interested in the case shall have the privilege of being assisted by two experts in the business involved, who shall represent employers and employes and who shall receive $7 a day for their services.

The decision shall be binding upon the parties who join in the application for six months, or until either party has given the other notice in writing of his intention not to be bound by the same at the expiration of sixty days therefrom. Said notice may be given to employes by posting the same in three conspicuous places in the shop or factory where they work. The mayor of a city is empowered to call the board's attention to labor troubles, either seriously threatened or actually in existence, and it shall be the duty of the state board to put itself in communication as soon as may be with the employer and employes.

It shall endeavor by mediation to effect an amicable settlement between them, or to endeavor to persuade them, provided that a strike or lock-out has not actually occurred, or is not then continuing, to submit the mattters in dispute to a local board of arbitration and conciliation, or to the state board; and said state board may, if it deem it advisable, investigate the cause or causes of such controversy and ascertain which party theretois mainly responsible or blameworthy for the existence or continuance of the same, and may make and publish a report finding such cause or causes and assigning such responsibility or blame.

WRIT OF ERROR DENIED.

But the A. R. U. Leaders Given Permission to Ask for a Habeas Corpus Writ.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Chief Justice Fuller delivered the supreme court's opinion in the application of Eugene V. Debs et al. for a writ of error in their case. The opinion was unanimous and to the effect that the application be denied. There was no written opinion and the chief justice did not give the reasons whereby the court reached the conclusion. Nor did he state why the petition for a writ of error was denied. The announcement of the court's decision was made as soon as court met at noon, and occupied only a few minutes.

This brought the proceedings to a writ of habeas corpus and in this matter leave was granted to file a petition and a rule entered making it returnable on the 28th inst. There is a difference of opinion as to the effect of this action. Darrow, counsel for the petitioners, insists that the action of the court amounted practically to granting the writ of habeas corpus, while the government's attorneys say the court did not go so far.

One of the justices, who for obvious reasons declined to allow his name to be used individually as construing an opinion of the court, said the action of the court was a preliminary victory for the prisoners, in that it makes an order on the lower court returnable Jan. 28 to show why the writ should not be granted. But he added that it was not conclusive, as the court might after hearing argument Jan. 28 refuse to grant the writ.

IN THE ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE.

Principal Measures Introduced in Both Houses—Three Arbitration Bills.

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 18.—The Republican and Democratic committees of the senate which are to assign members to committees have about completed their labors. The senators attended yesterday's session with their pockets full of bills which were introduced, among them the following: To classify fees and salaries in the different counties; insuring better education of dentists; to protect persons supplying materials for public buildings; to compel street railways to provide safeguards against accident to life or limb; appropriating $4,000 to the State Horticultural society. Bills were passed appropriating $62,000 for assembly expenses and for the raising of park funds in cities of from 2,000 to 100,000 population. A resolution to investigate the employment of convicts was referred.

In the house three bills for the arbitration of labor disputes were introduced and others as follows: To regulate the width of wagon tires; making the office of mayor four years instead of two and providing that at Chicago no mayor may be his own successor; repealing the law for the killing of English sparrows; appropriating $400,000 to the Quincy Soldiers' and Sailors' home; to prevent the use of dangerous oils in mines; appropriating $70,000 for the Jacksonville deaf and dumb asylum.

O'Donnell, of Bloomington, introduced in the house a bill to protect members of loan and homestead associations. It provides that any officer or agent of an association who shall directly or indirectly receive any payment on stock when at the time of receiving such payment he knows the association to be insolvent, or should have known it by using reasonable dilligence, and whereby payment on stock shall be lost, said officer shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement, and can be fined double the amount lost and imprisoned in the penitentiary for from one to three years.

Doings of Wisconsin Solons.

MADISON, Jan. 18.—In the house bills were introduced absolutely exempting the pensions of soldiers and sailors from execution or garnishee; requiring guard gates to be placed at the intersections of streets and railways in cities and incorated villages; requiring overground obstructions in cities and villages, such as electric wires, to be placed underground; all electric poles in cities and villages and signs therein to be removed; requiring street railway companies to put vestibules on street cars; giving to persons furnishing supplies to loggers a lien on the logs; re-establishing the office of state bank comptroller. A resolution was introduced in the senate to submit a constitutional amendment to the people relating to the salary of the state superintendent. Bills were introduced amendatory to the laws relating to prison discipline and management, and providing for the examination of mutual loan associations, private and state banks, etc.

Editor Declares He Is Christ.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Jan. 18.—Oscar Hoffman, the editor of The Volksfreund, a leading German paper of this section, declared in his last issue that he is Christ and that his paper is the voice of the Lord. He followed this with a tirade of abuse and slander against prominent German people. He was taken before the insanity commissioners and adjudged insane.

CULLOM ON FIRST.

Only One Ballot Necessary to Name Him Senator.

CAUCUS HELD WITH OPEN DOORS.

And the Public Admitted for the First Time in History—The Springfield Man Gets 103 Votes and the Chicago Man Twenty-One—Made Unanimous with Much Enthusiasm—Senator-Elect's Remarks—Democrats Hold No Caucus.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Jan. 18.—The Republican joint caucus to select a senatorial candidate convened last night. The nomination of Shelby M. Cullom to succeed himself in the United States senate for the next six years had been all but a foregone conclusion for twenty-four hours or more, and little remained but to ratify the apparently well established sentiment of the members by a formal roll-call. The caucus was held in the hall of the house of representatives, and being open to the public for the first time in history, the galleries were crowded by eager Springfield people. Immediately upon assembling the caucus got down to business, and a resolution was adopted declaring that the candidate carrying the majority of votes cast should be declared the choice of the caucus for senator.

Got There on the First Ballot.

Senator Berry, of Hancock, then placed the name of Senator Cullom in nomination in a brief eulogistic speech. The nomination was seconded by Representatives Cochran and Merriam. George S. Willits, of Chicago, was then nominated by Senator George E. Anthony, and after several speeches seconding the nomination a formal vote was taken, resulting in Senator Cullom's nomination as follows: Cullom, 103; Willets, 21. The choice was made unanimous amid a scene of wild enthusiasm. A committee was appointed to escort Senator Cullom to the platform, and he made a brief speech. He thanked the people of Illinois for honoring him for the third time with the senatorial toga.

Reference to National Questions.

Then he sarcastically referred to the inroads made on the Democratic majority in congress, and referring to the questions of the day said: "The disheartened Democracy of the Fifty-third congress are striving to build a new currency law. * * * We wont have it. The Republican party will initiate and control the policy of this country. The people have pretty emphatically indicated what they think of the Democratic foreign policy and of Cleveland and Gresham's management in the Hawaiian islands. We will again renew our sincere belief in the Monroe doctrine, and again ordain that America is for the American people. We will give new impulse to American commerce and inaugurate a waterway across the isthmus."

His reference to national questions was brief and the above is the substance thereof. Speeches were also made by George S. Willits, ex-Representative Adams and others.

Democrats to Hold No Caucus.

At a meeting of the Democratic steering committee of the house it was decided that no caucus for a nomination for United States senator should be held. This action was taken because Franklin MacVeagh was nominated by the Democratic state convention.

Trying to Make a Combination.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 18.—The Republican caucus to nominate a United States senator met again last night, but immediately adjourned to Monday. This was brought about by the anti-Burton men. Burton only needed seven votes to elect when the first caucus adjourned, and his opponents are trying to organize a combination against him.

Woman Suffrage To Be Voted On.

BOISE, Ida., Jan. 18.—In the house a resolution to submit the woman suffrage amendment to the voters at the next general election passed. It will be signed at once by the governor.

Tabled a Free Silver Resolution.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 18.—The house tabled by a vote of 62 to 28 a resolution calling for the free coinag of silver.

MAKING A RADICAL MOVE.

Petition to Foreclose on the Union Pacific and What It Involves.

OMAHA, Jan. 18.—A petition will be filed in St. Louis Saturday before Judge Sanborn looking to the foreclosure of the first mortgage on the main line of the Union Pacific railroad. The mortgage is for $32,000,000. The petition is supposed to have been prepared at the instance of the trustees of the first mortgage bonds. The road is not expected to sell for the amount of the first mortgage. This will wipe out all other indebtedness, and if carried out the government and all other creditors will lose everything involved.

Burrows Given a Banquet.

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 18.—After the joint session of the legislature had elected McMillan and Burrows senators, Burrows briefly addressed both houses, thanking them for the honor conferred. He attended a banquet to him and the legislature given by the citizens of Lansing. Among the bills introduced were: For a system of free text books in the schools; appropriating $35,000 for the erection and equipment of an assay building in connection with the Upper Peninsula Mining school, and appropriating of $80,000 for the school; providing for the issuance of a redeemable and interchangeable system of mileage books which shall be good on all lines operating in Michigan.

TOWER HILL, Ills., Jan. 18.—John Nance, a resident of Cowden, five miles south of here was assassinated. He was standing in front of a store when he was shot dead, five bullets piercing his body. # FAURE THE ELECT.

French Electoral College Makes Him President.

WILD TIME DURING THE BALLOTING

Two Votes Required to Settle the Question, Brisson Leading in the First—Versailles Palace Crowded with Statesmen and Politicians and Turbulence a Notable Feature—Scene of Excitement from the Start—Multitudes Cheer the Victor.

VERSAILLES, Jan. 18.—M. Felix Faure, minister of marine in the present cabinet, was elected on the second ballot to be president of the French republic. Faure polled 430 votes, to 361 votes polled by his nearest opponent, Brisson, president of the chamber of deputies. The Socialists protested violently when the result of the ballot was made known.

By the time the hour for opening the national assembly approached all the streets leading to the palace of Versailles were thronged with animated crowds, and the lobbies of the Salle du Congress were crowded with reporters and others having tickets of admission, all eagerly discussing the chances of the candidates. There were many ladies present. A large force of troops occupied the railroad stations and other points, guards were posted throughout the palace, and the streets were lined with gendarmes.

Excitement Begins at the Start.

Challemel-Lacour called the senators and members of the chamber of deputies to order at about 1 p. m. and the proceedings proper opened at 1:10 p. m. When Challemel-Lacour read the articles of the constitution which apply to the case there was a scene of considerable excitement, deputies from all parts of the hall springing to their feet and demanding to be heard. Michelin, Revisionist, asked leave to address the assembly with the object of recommending the convocation of a constitutional assembly for the purpose of a revision of the present constitution.

De Baudry d'Asson, Monarchist and Revisionist, also wanted to be heard. But Lacour would not grant Michelin's request, and believing that d'Asson was only going to make one of his familiar affirmations of devotion to the monarchy and the papacy, refused to hear him. This did not prevent the excitable deputy from crying: "Vive la Roi."

Lacour Orders the First Ballot.

When the first bursts of excitement had subsided Lacour ordered that the first ballot be taken as promptly as possible. The balloting then proceeded amid considerable excitement in the galleries. The fact that Mirman, a radical Socialist, though a member of the chamber, was compelled to be with the troops, as he is serving in the army, was another grievance of the Socialists, who cried "Shame, shame," when his name was called and he was absent.

In spite of these protests the roll call was continued and when the name of Toussant was called he shouted: "Citoyens et Citoyennes: I refuse to vote. I shall deposit a blank in the urn. Vive le revolution sociale." When the name of Alvez was called an Allemanist deputy shouted: "Down with the presidency. Let us have a dissolution. Stop voting."

Faure Denies Alleged Protestantism.

The voting went on, frequently interrupted by Socialistic disorder and cries of "Down with the presidency," and the excitement was increased when a rumor got about that Faure was a Protestant. He quieted this by a denial and said he was a Roman Catholic, thus reassuring his supporters. More Socialist disorder followed, but the greatest uproar broke out when the usher omitted calling out the name of Gerault Richard, who is undergoing a year's imprisonment for writing an article in Le Chomard insulting to Casimir-Perier. The omission to call his name caused the Socialists to rise en masse and loudly protest.

In spite of the noise the ushers calmly proceeded and the ballot being closed the declaration of the result was made as follows: Brisson, 388; Faure, 244; Waldeck-Rousseau, 184; Cavaignac, 6; Meline, 4; Dupuy, 4; Admiral, 1; Gervais, 1; Marshal Canrobert, 1; Loubet, 1; Rochefort, 1; Bourgeois, 1; Blank, 1—total 780.

LESS NOISE ON THE SECOND.

Faure Gets the Requisite Majority and Pandemonium Reigns.

A recess was then taken and the members, editors and reporters gathered in the gallery and loudly and excitedly discussed the situation, the Socialists leading in turbulence. Before the reassembly of the congress it was announced that Waldeck-Rousseau had retired in favor of Faure. The casting of the second ballot began at 4:40 p. m. and proceeded with less turbulence. At 7:15 p. m. Lacour ascended the presidential tribune and when the hubbub had subsided he announced that the result of the ballot was: Faure, 451; Brisson, 361.

Members of the Right immediately burst into cheers, and the Socialists rose and shouted: "Down with the rogues; down with the thieves; away with them; send them to Mazas prison." The members of the Right replied with cries of "Down with the commune." Coutant, Socialist, retorted with: "Down with reaction." An indescribable tumult followed, but finally Lacour was able to make himself heard, and he declared that Faure was elected president of the French republic. Thereupon the extreme Left and the Socialists again rose, and they sent forth a tremendous shout of "Vive Brisson. Vive Brisson."

This shouting upon the part of the adherents of the president of the chamber of deputies lasted for a couple of minutes. Nevertheless Lacour pursued the usual parliamentary course and had the minutes read, while the Socialists continued their protests against the election of Faure. D'Asson protested loudly at not being permitted to speak before the first ballot, but the Socialists yelled him down. There was more Socialist protest, while Michelin continued to demand a revision of the constitution.

At last during a lull Lacour seized the opportunity to say: "As nobody asks for a hearing the sitting is closed," action that brought out renewed protests from the Socialists, who loudly shouted: "Vive le revolution sociale." They continued this until they found that everybody else had left the hall, when they also dispersed. Later the newly-elected president and the officers of the government and chamber met in the room of Challemel-Lacour, where speeches were made, congratulatory and otherwise by Lacour, Faure and others. Faure promising loyalty to the republic.

At 8:30 p. m. a four-horse landau, escorted by a guard of horse artillery, drove up to the entrance of the palace, and the newly elected president entered. Then escorted by a detachment of dragoons and mounted gendarmes he started for Paris. The square in front of the palace was packed with people who had been waiting there since noon, and there were loud cheers of "Vive la Republique" as the carriage drove away. A majority of the senators and deputies had preceded him. Gardes Republicaines formed a guard of honor at the St. Lazare station, where barriers had been erected, owing to the enormous throng of people that had gathered outside awaiting the arrival of the new president of the republic.

All the windows looking upon the station were filled with spectators. When the presidential train entered the station bugles sounded, drums beat and the troops presented arms. M. Faure emerged and entered a superb carriage, which was escorted by cuirassiers. As soon as the president was seen the immense crowd shouted: "Vive la republique." "Vive Felix Faure." The cries were redoubled when Faure ordered the hood of the carriage to be thrown back. Hats were waved and the greatest of enthusiasm was displayed.

Dupuy sat beside the president. The cheers of the throng massed along the footways did not cease until the carriage of the president reached the palace of the Elysee. Faure constantly doffed his hat in response to the enthusiastic acclamations of the multitude.

The members of the cabinet have placed their resignations in the hands of President Faure, but will continue temporarily the direction of affairs.

Orleans Issues a Manifesto.

VERSAILLES, Jan. 18.—The duke of Orleans, pretender to the throne of France, has issued a manifesto. It was addressed to Senator Buffet, and dwells upon the danger of the present crisis, claiming that the president's letter of resignation is an indictment of the present constitution. A republic in France, the duke claims, can never be other than a provisional regime, and predicts that the time is near at hand when France will wish to return to the monarchy.

French at Washington Surprised.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The news of the election of M. Felix Faure as president of France was a surprise to the members of the French legation here.

STATUS OF THE ANTI-OPTION BILL.

A Majority in Its Favor, but Its Prospects of Passage Poor.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Many inquiries are being received as to the status of the anti-option bill. There seems in some parts of the country a fear that the bill is dead, or as good as dead, and in others a fear that it will develop into law during this session. The status of the measure is just this: It has passed the house and is on the senate calendar. It was reported back to the senate by the senate committee on agriculture without recommendation last session.

Washburn has tacked on an unimportant amendment which will necessitate further action by the house, and thereby cause more delay should it pass the senate. The prospects of its passing the senate are poor. They are in fact very poor. If it could be put to a vote it would doubtless pass. There is certainly a majority in favor of the bill.

Financial Bills in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—In the senate Sherman presented an emergency currency bill to meet treasury deficiencies, and Pugh offered a measure in the same line. Sherman's bill authorizes the secretary of the treasury to issue bonds to maintain redemption or pay current expenses, bearing 3 per cent. interest and redeemable in five years, or in lieu of the bonds 3 per cent. coin certificates in denominations of from $5 to $100 redeemable in five years; national banks to be permitted to issue circulating notes up to the par value of their deposited bonds. Pugh's bill authorizes the immediate issue of $100,000,000 in greenbacks, redeemable in "coin" and to be constantly reissued, together with the coinage of the seigniorage. The rest of the day was devoted to the pension and army bills. The first was passed with amendments making the lowest rate for pensionable disability $6 per month and repealing the law cutting off non-resident pensioners. The army appropriation was still pending at adjournment.

The day in the house was again devoted to the Indian appropriation bill and fair progress was made. A number of amendments were adopted, the most important being to pay to the Cherokee Nation $1,000,000. An amendment by Pickler to discontinue the services of army officers as Indian agents was ruled out of order.

Affairs of Henry W. Seiter.

MASCOUTAH, Ills., Jan. 18.—Henry Seiter, the insolvent Lebanon banker, tendered his resignation in the St. Clair county court as trustee of J. K. Riggins, insane, and made report showing a balance of $14,000 tied up in the broken bank. An effort will be made to have the claim given preference upon the ground that the money was not upon deposit, but simply held in trust. In any case the estate is secured by bondsmen. The ex-senator is still hopeful that his affairs will take a better turn and he will be able to pay dollar for dollar of the $30,000 indebtedness.

Husband Fatally Shot by His Wife.

JACKSONVILLE, Ills., Jan. 18.—Ferdinand Wiegan is a quiet, peaceable citizen when sober, but when drunk is often frenzied, and when in that condition he frequently threatened to kill his wife. During one of these frenzies he was especially ugly, and Mrs. Wiegan in self-defense seized a revolver and shot him. The ball entered his chin and ranged back toward his spine. He is lying in a dying condition. The woman ran to the nearest house and roused the people. When they went to the house with her she attempted to shoot herself.

THE OLD ORGANIST.

In through the window steals the silent splendor
Of fading twilight. Like a blessing there
It lingers with a touch so soft and tender
Upon an old man's flowing silver hair.
The pews are vacant, but for shadows flitting
With silent tread along the narrow aisle,
And like dim spirit forms within them sitting,
Or bowing in devotion there the while.

Beside the organ sits the old man, playing
A tune so sad that sorrow seems the theme.
His fingers o'er the yellow keys are straying,
As though he played it all within a dream.
His tear dims eyes are not with mortal vision,
The music bears his spirit far away
Into a splendor full of life elysian,
Where peace and pleasure crown an endless day.

THE KING OF INNISHKEA.

He Dwells on an Irish Island and Rules a Mayo Tribe.

About 16 miles from Dugort, in Achill island, out to sea, looking like a thin line of sand in the waves of the Atlantic, is the island of Innishkea. One fine morning our party started to visit it in a trusty hooker. As the hooker came in sight of the shore great excitement was visible among the islanders, and it was very hard to realize that we were still but 36 hours' journey from London.

The inhabitants turned out en masse. The women and children in their scanty garments of red flannel crouched outside their cabins, while numbers of the men ran down to the beach and put out in their coracles on chance of rowing us to land. It was a strange scene and curiously like a picture plate in a boy's book of adventures. We knew there was a king of Innishkea, and soon a tall, bronze faced man was pointed out to us as his majesty. On landing all the party were introduced and conducted by him to the palace, where the queen dowager, with her daughter, bade us welcome in true Irish fashion.

The old lady was in her picturesque native costume—red dress and plaid shawl over her head. The princess, however, had evidently on first sight of the hooker arrayed herself in modern fashion to do us honor, and we were amused on penetrating into the reception room to find advertisements from shops in Buckingham Palace road and St. Paul's churchyard hung up to embellish the wall, though only by a favored few could they be read.

The island was destitute of any school or means of instruction for the children, a very small proportion either understood or spoke English, and there was neither watch nor clock among the people, who had a happy go lucky idea of time and troubled themselves little as to Greenwich regulations.

There were no church bells to ring, no trains to catch, no office hours requiring punctuality, so when the sun was high in the heavens they would get through their not arduous farming duties, and when he sank in the great waste of waters they could sleep. The king's word settled all disputes. It was a hereditary monarchy, and his people, so far as he was concerned, were untaxed. Happy those states, thought some of the visitors, where royalty could be maintained with so little grandeur! However, I am in honesty bound to add we found King Philip had other means of filling his coffers besides levying taxes on his faithful subjects and learned the art of making good his opportunity whenever the Saxon stranger ventured to land on his shore. But Innishkea has an interest altogether apart from its situation, surrounded as it is by lovely views of mountain cliff and rocky headland. On this spot, hundreds of years ago, early Christian missionaries landed, and on top of a shelly mount, half a mile from the beach, are Christian remains of great antiquity. West of the island there stand also the ruins of a church said to have been built by the successors of St. Columba.—Leisure Hours.

Jenny Lind.

Jenny Lind must have been the most simple, unpretending prima donna that ever lived. When she first came to England she was bound to sing only at the Royal Italian Opera House, and when commanded to sing at the queen's concert she was obliged to refuse. Very sorry to be compelled to notify this, she ordered her carriage and drove straight to Buckingham palace. She handed her card to an official, who, not unnaturally, declined to take it in. A higher authority happened to pass and took it upon himself to present it. As soon as her majesty saw it she said, "Admit her, by all means." Jenny Lind appeared and said simply that she was so very sorry to be unable to sing at her majesty's concert that she thought it better to call herself and explain. The queen was charmed with her natural manner, gave her a cordial reception and promised to be her friend.—Today.

A Fine Polish For Tinware.

When the kitchen range is cleaned out, there will be found in the flue under the oven a considerable quantity of gray dust. It is not ashes exactly, not yet soot, but a smoke deposit as near akin to lampblack as a coal fire is able to produce—soft, light, impalpable, finer than the finest flour. Not many among those who throw this into the ash bin are probably aware that this is the best thing in the world for polishing tinware, far surpassing all the prepared powders and pastes sold for that purpose. Apply it to the tin with a damp cloth, and a few strokes will produce such a luster as is on new ware or as the engraver puts upon his zinc plates by the use of charcoal.—Exchange.

Triumph of Bad Spelling.

Mr. R. E. Bartlett, Chelmsford, writes: "I can beat the achievement of Charles Edward, who, by spelling box 'botsk,' made more mistakes than the letters admit of. I have in my possession a letter addressed many years ago to my father, in which 13 mistakes are made in a single word of five letters. The word is, or was meant to be, usage; the spelling is yowzuch. There are thus five sins of omission and eight of commission; total, 13."—London News.

The Human Electrical Forces!

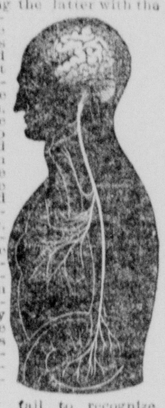
How They Control the Organs of the Body.



The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organ itself instead of the cause of the trouble. The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his efforts.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

John Wyclif.

[CONCLUDED]

At first Wyclif designed to fight the practices of the church, not her doctrines. With this thought he allied himself with the powerful John of Gaunt and seconded him in defending the parliament in her indignant refusal to pay the tribute claimed by the Pope, a tribute greater than a prince's revenue. The theory of dominion that Wyclif now eagerly promulgated and labored so steadfastly to establish, swept away the mediation of priest, and man stood face to face, alone, with his God. The trend of this doctrine was hardly understood in its fullness. It was in reality the opening of the sluice-gates. Again, his novel idea that the church was temporally subject to the crown, and that her property could be laid hold of for national purposes, and that it were far better for the church to return to her original poverty, met with quick and fierce opposition. At this time, so closely was he allied with John of Gaunt that he was looked upon as the "theological bulwark" of the Lancasterian party and his enemies plotted his downfall. He was summoned before Bishop Courteny, of London, to answer to his heretical teachings concerning the wealth of the church. The Duke of Lancaster accepted this challenge as if it had, indeed, been given to himself, and he stood nobly by Wyclif in the consistory court of St. Paul's. But the trial did not take place, having ended in a fiasco. The Duke, in his hot anger, threatened to drag out the Bishop by the hair of his head. The London populace, to whom John of Gaunt, was, of all men, the most hateful, burst in and rescued their Bishop. In the melee, Wyclif's life was placed in great jeopardy, and he was only saved by the intervention of the soldiers. Strange to say, this occurance did not weaken his influence or retard his course.

The papal bulls ordering him to be arrested and condemned only elicited from him a bold defiance. He claimed that it was not in the power of Rome to excommunicate a man until he had first excommunicated himself. He again defended the subjection of the ecclesiastical to the civil tribune; this won him the enthusiastic support of the people. And when he entered Lambeth chapel to answer the Archbishop summons, a message from the court forbade them to proceed and the people broke in and disolved the assembly. Wyclif still worked hand in hand with John of Gaunt until the arising of Wat Tyler, that fearful insurrection of the peasents. This, in a few months laid low his hopes and overthrew all the work that had been accomplished with so great labor. Not alone was the house of Lancaster trampled in the dust and her power wrested from her, that power, on which Wycliff so relied, "but the cause of the church suffered as well." All strife was hushed before a common danger.

Wyclif alone stood firm and undismayed. And now terrible was the conflict on which he entered. The Friars charged him with being a "sower of strife," alleging that he had set serf against master. To this, Wyclif with lofty pride and high disdain hurled back in their teeth the charge. He now took a farther, more radical step. He passed from a reformer of discipline and the political relations of the church and denounced her cardinal beliefs. He denied transubstantiation. To make this act boldly significant, he stood alone. John of Gaunt, his powerful friend, turned from him and enjoined his silence. The University that had heretofore been his staunch supporter, now cruelly denounced him. Undaunted by the conflict that raged about him, he no longer appealed to the aristocratic and cultured, but for the first time in the world's history, he appealed to the people at large. With a zeal and energy that was untiring he flooded all England with his plea. Throwing aside the "pedantry and bombast" of the schools, he talked to the people in plain terse words that moved them with their glowing fire and stirring eloquence to the very pith of their being and placed him, their author, on a par with Chaucer. Chaucer in the liquid sweetness of poetry. Wyclif in the animated eloquence of sonorous prose. He was master of stinging sarcasm, of scintillating wit, of clear logical reasoning; his vehement sentences aroused the dullest minds with their quickning fire and were never fruitless of results; he used every weapon at his command with consummate skill and address.

He called about him the aid of some simple priests, that in their long russet garments, and plain, coarse language, moved to laughter the more pompous clergy, who in derision called them Lollards, a term meaning idle babblers; but in spite of sarcasm and laughter, they succeeded so well in disseminating Wyclif's dogmas, that in a few years it was claimed that every second man you met was a Lollard, and the name given in mockery had become a term of honor that they boastfully wore. It was said that even the monastic cell was not free from their influence, for it harbored many. One more great work, that he did to his lasting and eternal honor, was the translation of the bible into the English tongue. We can in no way measure the incalculable benefit of this work.

When it became possible for every man, woman and child to read the words of the living God, and to drink in the sweetness of the Master's words, then only was left good will to all; not a sword and fire, but peace and joy, then was the heart stirred by the benediction of life's blessings. The torch of persecution was quenched. Love that thought no evil, but allured by gentle persuasions and kindly courtesy, found rest in the hearts of men.

The pomp and grandeur of a temporal church was vanishing away, leaving place but for the spiritual conquest, that is the mastery of self.

—Erroneous reports have been circulated that a case of scarlet fever exists at the home of Samuel Gantz, the only frundation for which is the fact that his daughter Nellie has a slight attack of tonsilitis.

—An exchange truthfully says that no newpaper can do what is right and stand up for what is just and good without stepping on somebody's toes. The toes are to blame for being where they may be stepped on.

—The story now running in the Chicago Record is by Eva Katherine Clapp, formerly a resident of Lee Centre and Bradford. She is a daughter of Henry Clapp, deceased, and is well known to many of our readers.

—Rev. W. H. Savage contributes to the January Arena a paper on "The Religion of Longfellow's Poetry," which will be read with great interest by all lovers of the poet, all of whose work is impregnated with the highest spiritual aspiration, wrapped in simplicity.

—Town Clerk Clifton Hatch is preparing papers for the opening of a new road between Sections 17 and 18 or rather it is a move to have the Pine Creek road four miles north of this city where it winds to cross the Seven Mile Branch, straightened to the section line.

—Mr. J. J. Glanfield started Sunday for Newark, N. J., to begin work on a large Baptist church in that city. The school house here is nearly completed and will be ready for accupancy before the spring term of school. The building would be a credit to any city and fills a long needed want.—Independant Dem. Oregon.

—The Hennepin canal engineers left for the vicinity of Dixon this morning. There were only six in the party, including Captain Wheeler, the usual number being ten. They will commence near Dixon and work down the river until they strike a favorable point from which to run a trial line through for the feeder.—Sterling Gazette, 16th.

—Perhaps there are few people in Dixon who know the cost of the new Illinois & Mississippi canal and the feeder which will start from this neighborhood. The total cost of the main line is $5,707,562. The total cost of the feeder line $1,858,398. The total cost of all is $6,925,960. The work is a stupendous one when we stop to consider.

—Miss Minnie Crockett, a niece of Mrs. M. J. Trissel and Mrs. F. J. Stahl of this city, died at her home in De Graff, Ohio, yesterday morning of consumption. She was a student at the Dixon Business University a year ago and had many friends here who will be sorry to hear of her death. Mrs. Stahl left for DeGraff this afternoon to attend the funeral.

—Roman Catholics in London will soon have a cathedral of an architecture unique in that city. It will be a basilica, built on the model of Constantine's original church of St. Peter at Rome, 350 feet long by 170 wide, and 100 high, and it will hold about 10,000 people. Attached to it is to be a monastery for thirty monks and forty-five lay brethren, to which the Benedictines, who for centuries served Westminister Abbey, are to be invited. The land was bought by Cardinal Manning nearly thirty years ago for £55,000, and is now worth £300,000. The building will cost £250,000, toward which one contributor has already given £20,000.

—Under the head of "Poor Bob Burdette," an exchange says a few days ago he appeared before a large audience of the culture of Cleveland, Ohio, in Presbyterian church, so drunk that what he said was far from his subject and incoherent, and at his own request he was removed to a hotel. Years ago when a publisher in Peoria, he was a hard drinker; he quit, loved, cherished and tenderly cared for a helpless invalid wife while he bravely mounted the ladder of literary fame. She whom he loved, idolized and worshipped, died, and now in the zenith of his glory his old enemy has reclaimed him.

The Berlinger Telephone Patent

Judge Carpenter's decision in the Berliner case has caused much indignation among Washington patent attorneys. It practically declares that if any attorney permits the patent office to delay action, for any reason, upon their client's application, the patent will be void. The solid sense of the men best qualified to judge, says a correspondent of the Electrical Review, is that the decision will never stand. Some years ago Justice Clifford of the U. S. supreme court prepared an exhaustive opinion on the main question involved in the Berliner case and decided that an inventor is not responsible for delays in the patent office. On one point there seems to be a good deal of misapprehension. The Berliner patent has not been cancelled, and it will not be cancelled, at least, until the court of appeals reviews the case. Meanwhile the Bell Telephone Co. holds the patent and has a right to operate under it. Infringers should, therefore, take the decision of Judge Carpenter simply as legal advice, for what it is worth, and they will do well to consult their own lawyers before making any radical move.

EDWARD E. PETTIT,

The Optical Specialist,

Is now at DR. D. B. VAUGHN'S office, and will remain until Wednesday, January 23rd.

Don't fail to see me, as I cure many afflictions through treatment of the eyes, such as nervousness and nervous prostration, dull and splitting headaches, bachaches, dizziness, neuralgia and stomach troubles. Could give you hundreds of testimonials as I have treated people for defective eyes from every state in the Union and not a few from foreign countries. I find many people wearing glasses that fail to correct the trouble, as often imperfect fitting causes trouble, unknown to the patient as to the cause that produces it. The eye is the most valuable of any of the special senses, the most delicate and complicated, and yet the most neglected and abused. It is no wonder that, as old age comes on we often have cataracts and loss of vision. Eyes should be attended to as soon as they give any trouble and in nearly every case vision can be restored and our sight prolongued.
